

Partners for lifelong learners

What started as a conversation between former Starbucks CEO Howard Schultz and Arizona State University President Michael M. Crow led to a shared philosophy and the idea of providing access to lifelong learning worldwide. And they decided to do just that, starting with Starbucks employees ("partners").

Welcome to Starbucks Global Academy—Powered by ASU. Learn more

Out of our commitment to lifelong learning and providing many pathways to opportunity...

Explore this site and discover the courses that will most advance your personal and professional goals.

Explore Courses

To Be Welcoming

A series of courses about understanding the human experience.